TROUBLE IN UTAH .- On New Year's day a very serious collision took place in Great Salt Lake City, between some of the United States soldiers and the citizens at a drinking shop. The affair is stated as follows in the mail received last night:

Fire-arms were freely used, and seven or eight persons were shot, but fortunately none of them were killed. Two of the soldiers were severely wounded, and for a time it was thought they would not recovgion," threatening to destroy the whole battallion of United States troops in the city under Col. Steptoe. The three companie of United States troops were quickly paraded under arms-they strengtened their "Legion," which was every moment expectthreedays, when calmer counsels prevailed andhostilities ceased. As the affairgrew out the civil authorities forbidding the furthe of a drunken fight, an order was issued by onle of ardent spirits in the city.

They're with you at epring-tide-when all things look bright, And while it is Summer, they hover in sight; But let frowning Autumn but cover your aky. Like troops of deserters they falter and fly!

They steal on your hours of pleasure and ease To offer the incense, they know that will please; They'll careas you by measure, and flatter by rule, They laugh at the folly that made you their tool.

Their tears are but vapors, that start at their call, Like mists of the morning, they dry as they fall; While they leave you in sorrow and sickness and To offer to new Idols their westing perfame.

While the rose is in blossom they hum like the bee; And bend to its beauty the sycophant knee;
But should the wild Tempest sweep over its head,
They turn from the leaflet that's dying or dead.

Like the Parasite climber that journingly flinge It myrida of festoons wherever it clings, nd will leave the low shrub, in its sge and decay, or the Oak that is flourishing over the way! Like the Indians of Peru, they worship the Sun-

Eclipse but his brightness, their worship is done; To the Moon in full glory fresh homage they pay, But when waning return to the "God of the day."

For the promises pledged, they will break or deny; They'll join the loud enchore, the swell of applause. Then whisper the malice that wilts or destroys Their hearts, if they've any, are empty and cold. And the "Sessime" opening them, covered with go "Like Sepulchers whited." those caverns of sin, Are humid and rotten, and lettle within!

Three Experiments in Cultivation.

1 .- FORTY ACRES CORN .- This was old land, which had, the previous year, under the anti-book system of farming, produced 25 to 30 bushels of corn and an indefinite quantity of weeds to the acre. Soil, a

The ground was plowed 14 inches deep and furrows nine inches wide ; harrowed and rolled; then drilled exactly north and south. Drills four feet apart, and planted 5 kernels in a place, two feet six inches GEO. T. MOORE has removed to the room recently occupied by Hoffheimer & Co.,—white apart. On the first hoeing all but three plants were removed from each hill. On the 8th day of May, ten acres were in a solution of three pounds of saltpetre and two of copperas. These ten acres yielded sixty-five bushels to the acre. On the 15th and 16th of May, fifteen acres more were planted with seed soaked twenty four hours in the same or similar solution.

planted with seed which had been soaked

The yield of this was one hundred and five bushels to the acre. The remaining fifteen acres was not planted until the 5th of June, when it was planted with seed which had been steeped for thirty hours in a solution similar to that before mentioned. Many knowing ones predicted that this would be a failure-it would come to nothing. The result was that from these fifteen acres was harvested 1.680 bushels of corn-or one hundred and twelve bushels to the acre!

Now about the after culture. As soon as the plants were conveniently above ground the plants were conveniently above ground that the Toilet, the Handkerchief, etc.

GEO. T. MOORE. Now about the after culture. As soon as the plows were set to work, followed by the hoes. This time a light plough was run as close to the plant as practicable [and being properly drilled, the rows were perfectly straight] and the earth turned from the plant. Then the men with hoes removed every remaining weed, and loosen ed and leveled the earth about the plants. This done, a cultivator was run in the centre between the rows to level the ground, and give a finish to the weeds, which were showing themselves in legions. As soon as the field was gene through second course was commenced. This plowing was the reverse of the first; a slight furrow was thrown to the plant, and and again the men with hoes followed the plow, demolishing the weeds and drawing | kinds. a small quantity of fresh earth to the plants. Again the cultivator was run between the rows as before. By this time the weeds were pretty well nastered and now a big plow was brought into use, to which were attached two powerful horses, placed one before the other. In going through first the landside of the plow was held a few inches past the middle between the rows, and on coming back, the plow was run about two inches deeper. the landside again past the middle the other way. This time a man followed the plow The last case of jealousy is that of a to relieve the plants which might be borne

2. THREE ACRES POTATOES .- This was upland, broken, soil much the same as the preceding; had been in pasture for 8 or 9 years. The ground was broken up in the early part of March, as deep as the plow could be run; afterwards harrowed, rolled, and ridged; the ridges were then split with a deep running plow, and the potatoes dropped in the middle of the furrow; eight inches apart. The potatoes were cut, so as to leave two good eyes to each set. Refuse straw, wet or dry was now thrown in over the potatoes, to the tom of pelting a friend after he has left the depth of several inches, and the whole deeply covered with the plow.

The rows were thirty-two inches apart. As soon as the sprouts began to appear at the surface, the field was cross harrowed, and during the season cultivated much as the corn, mentioned in the first experiments one; by HENRY HOWARD BROWNELL, A. M. In presenting this work to the cubility In presenting this work to the public, the publishers believe that they are supplying a desiderarum, the want of which has been long felt by the reading community, and especially by the people at larga.—No other work, much less any one angle volume, contains the complete and extended view of entire American history which is here presented. The contains the complete and extended view of entire American history which is here presented. The plan and execution of the book are entirely new; the arrangement of the various European Provinces, under their respective national heads, and the sub-division of these into separate Colonies and Stateadue chromological order being preserved—will, it is thought, make it of peculiar value as a book of reference, and greatly facilitate a clear and accurate knowledge of general history. Also, THE OLD WORLD; in two volumes bound in one; by Henry Howard Brownell, A. and Nations, from the earliest period to the present time—of their wars, conquests and revolution—of religious dissension and persecution—of the gradual extension of freedom and civilization—and the final settlement of political relations on their present basis.

These books comprise a complete history of the WORLD, in four volumes bound in two.

WORLD, in four volumes bound in two.

The character of the illustrations in these volumes are of a higher and more magnificent standard than has ever been attempted heretofore, being from designs by Darley, Billings, Wallin and Doepler, and elegantly colored, (except the portraits,) with from five to nine different ints, true to nature, so as to impart a close resemblance to well-finished paintings.

These works are printed from new and handsome type, also on paper of extra quality as regards textype, also on paper of extra quality as regards texure and permanency, and comprise over 2,500 pages oval octavo, with numerous and diversified colored engravings, bound in embossed black morocco leather ng, with tipped corners.

FAMILY PHYSIC. THERE has long existed a public demand for as effective purpative pill which could be relied on as sure and perfectly safe in its operation. This has been prepared to meet that demand, and an extensive trial of its virtues has conclusively shown with sive trial of its virtues has conclusively shown with what steeces it accomplishes the purpose designed. It is easy to make a physical pill, but not easy to make the best of all pille—one which should have none of the objections, but all the advantages, of every other. This has been attempted here, and with what success we would respectfully submit to the public decision. It has been unfortunate for the patient hitherto that almost every purgative medicine is acrimonious and irritating to the bowels. This is not. Many of them produce so much private any and revulsion in the system as to more els. This is not. Many of them produce so much griping pain and revulsion in the system as to more than counterbalance the good to be derived from them. These pills produce no irritation or pain, masses it arise from a previously existing obstruction or derangement in the bowels. Being purely expetable, no harm can arise from their use in any equantity; but it is better that any medicine should be taken judiciously. Minute directions for their use in the several diseases to which they are applicable are given on the low. Among the comuse in the several diseases to which they are applicable are given on the box. Among the complaints which have been speedily cured by them, we may mention Liver Cemplaint, in its various forms of Jaundice, Indigestion, Languor and Loss of Appetite, Listlessness, Irritability, Bilious Headache, Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, Pain in the Side and Loins; for, in truth, all these are but the consequence of diseased action in the liver. As an aperient, they afford prompt and sure relief in Costiveness, Piles, Colle, Dissentery, Humars, Serofula and Scurvy, Colds with socuenes of the body, Ulcers and impurity of the blood; in short, any and every case where a purgative is required.

They have also produced some singularly successful cares in Rheumatism, Gout, Dropsy, Gravel, Ervsipelas, Palpitation of the Heart, Pains in the Back, Stomach, and Side. They should be freely taken in the spring of the year, to purify the blood and prepare the system for the change of seasons. An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, and restores the appetite and river. They more the blood and by their howels into healthy action, and restores the appe-tive and vigor. They purify the blood, and, by their stiroulant action on the circulatory system, tene-vate the strength of the body, and restore the vate the strength of the body, and restore the wasted or discased energies of the whole organism. Hence an occasional dose is advantageous, even though no serious decangement exists; but unnecessary dosing should never be carried too far, as every purgative medicine reduces the strength, when taken to excess. The thousand cases in which a physic is required cannot be enumerated here, but they suggest themselves to the reason of every body; and it is conficently believed this pill will answer a better purpose than any thing which has hitherto teem available to mankind. When their virtues are once known, the public will no lower doubt what remedy to employ when in need of a cathartic medicine.

CHERRY PECTORAL For the rapid Cure of COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, BRONCHITIS, WHOOPING-COUGH, CROUP, ASTHMA, AND CONSEMPTION. This remedy has won for itself such notoriety from its cures of every variety of pulmonary disease, that it is entirely unnecessary to focount the cridences of its virtues in any community where it has been employed. So wide is the field of its usefulness, and so numerous the cases of its cura, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs which are incident to our climate. And not ouly in formidable attacks upon the lungs, but for the milder varieties of Colds. Coughs, Hoarseness, &c.; and for Children it is the pleasantest and safest medicine that can be obtained.
